Datafile extract on "Stormtrooper X"

Stormtrooper X is an alias used by a male mercenary in the Galactic Empire whose true identity is unknown. He has made a name for himself by working as a pirate in the Outer Rim Territories with a gang of at least a dozen other outlaws and has had dealings with several different underworld organisations. He is known to fly an N-1 star-fighter with the transponder code designation Rogue Imperial 5. His defining trait is a modified stormtrooper helmet that he wears with a large red "X" painted across the faceplate. He can speak several languages, including Basic, Dosh, Huttese, Rodese, and Sullustese.
